(c) Gur manufacture and trade lie primarily in the unorganised sector of economy and the prices depend on the market forces of demand and supply. However, speculative tendency in gur trading is curbed through judicious regulative measures on forward trading in gur, like fixing reasonable limit on individual operator, restricting weekly fluctuation range, special margins on sale and purchase etc. Besides, under the Gur (Regulation of Use) Order, 1968, the use of gur is restricted primarily to human Consumption and as cattle feed so as to check its use for preparation of alcoholic liquors, and thereby maintaining its availability.

Implementation of Rural Development Programmes

1083. SHRI MUKHTIAR SINGH MALIK: Will the Minister of AGRICULTURE AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that Integrated Rural Development Programme has not been fully implemented by various State Governments;

(b) whether it is also a fact that more than half of the State Governments had not prepared their five year perspective plans; and

(c) if so, what are the reasons therefor and the action taken by Government in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT (SHRI CHANDULAL CHANDRAKAR): (a) to (c) At the all-India level the physical and financial targets under the Integrated Rural Development Programme (IRDP) have been exceeded during the Sixth Plan period. 15 States/Union Territories have achieved/exceeded the targets under IRDP and 4 States/UTs. have achieved between 80 per cent to 100 per cent of the targets in the Sixth Plan. In the North-Eastern region there were peculiar problems relating to lack of basic infrastructure, etc. which affected performance.

The evaluation report of the Programme Evaluation Oganisation of the Planning Commmission has found from information collected at State-level, that more than half of the States studied had not attempted preparation of Five Year perspective plans. However, the report also states that out of the 33 selected districts the perspective plan had been prepared for 17 districts. Further, the report says that from 1982-83 onwards the annual action plans were prepared for nearly all the blocks of the selected districts.

The preparation of such plans was provided in the programme guidelines and was being constantly pursued.
